

Daniel Aletaha is Chair of Rheumatology and Head of the Division of Rheumatology at the Medical University of Vienna. Dr. Aletaha has received academic degrees from the Medical University in Vienna (MD), Duke University (MS), and Danube University (MBA), and had spent over two years at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Maryland. He is a dedicated scientist with broad interests in outcomes research, clinical trials, and translational research in inflammatory rheumatic diseases. He is author on more than 350 publications, and serves on the Editorial Board of several rheumatology specialty journals. He is coordinator of the multinational Horizon Europe funded SQUEEZE project (2022-2027).

Daniel Aletaha has been involved in several International Task Forces, and is lead author on the 2010 Classification Criteria for RA. He has served many years in the EULAR Council and is currently president-elect of EULAR (presidency June 2023-June 2025).